

An interpreter

...a uterine artery
embolization is less invasive than a hysterectomy...

is not a walking dictionary.

Always brief them when you book, so they have chance to prepare.

An interpreter

is not on anyone's side.

Their duty is to be faithful to the message and remain impartial.

An interpreter

isn't a multi-use tool.

They are not a mediator, an advocate or a chauffer. They are a conduit for information.
